may 2013

Hello!

This second edition is to give thanks and say welcome to our home. It has been so humbling to be embraced by the Glenwood community as we have. Thanks are in order.

There are far too many people to mention but a few deserve very special mention: Our family – Mom, Dad, Barbara – without your tireless efforts the parc. dream would not have been possible at all. The hours, the laughter, the tears. What a journey!

Dad, or as you have become known, MacGuyver – you are our hero! Putting your own business matters on the back burner for almost 5 weeks to ensure that we could get parc. up and running on time. Thank you!

Mom, for being everybody's "ra ra" girl, lunch lady and ear to bend. With nothing but love and kindness you steered us towards the end goal. Thank you!

Barbara, our whizz. Your hours of work (ongoing) and uniquely practical mind kept us sane. All we had to do is ask and it appeared. The after hours shop fitting after a full day of running your own business. We are so blessed to have you in our family. Thank you.

come on over and parc.

Escape for a while. Our sanctuary in the city will hopefully become a sanctuary for you too.

Enjoy delicious coffee, a real milkshake or our homestyle cordials while you work or play.

Breakfast and lunch is served all day long, just because we know you love it!

the parc. family

Introducing the awesome parc. team members that have been hand picked by us to make your experience at parc. an unforgettable one. You guys rock!

You helped us turn our space from a blank canvas into parc. It belongs to you as much as it belongs to us. Thank you.

pastel's heart beats @ parc.

Local graffiti artist, Pastel Heart, found inspiration in parc. to create the art on our back wall. Working without a stencil or tools apart from his spray cans and creative point of view, our lady appeared, mysterious and flaxen before our eyes.

Pastel tells us that he is currently working on a series of line work portraits of which "Iris", as we have come to call her, is one of his favourite works to date.

Watch this space as we are in the process of discussing a possible exhibition of his work at parc. Find him at <http://www.facebook.com/pastel.heart>

The seasons are changing and so is our menu. In winter we can look forward to gorgeous tropical fruit and Brassica like cauliflower, cabbage, kale, brussel sprouts and broccoli. Keep an eye on our website for seasonal menu changes, which will be kept current.

Table reservations for six or more can be made by completing the online form at <http://www.parc-cafe.co.za/> or telephonically on 031 205 7285.

At parc. you will also find high speed Wi-Fi absolutely free. Perfect for a business meeting or for those who feel the cabin fever of a small office.

Until next time ☺
